Dated: Nov 25, 2009

Beside the River Whitewater, in immaculate condition and a delightful setting with 600 yds double and 500 yds single bank fishing. An attractive barn with library/games room with additional 4 bed cottage.

Castle Mill House is an historical property, built of brick and part tile hung elevations under a tiled roof, nestling on the banks of the River Whitewater. Situated opposite the house is an attractive barn. The Library has considerable atmosphere and was designed by the well known architect, Philip Jebb in 1976, as a library and writing room for Sir Christopher and Lady Soames.

Both the house and gardens have been substantially rejuvenated over the last three years, to an exacting standard by the current owners. The house has been totally rewired and re-plumbed with under floor heating installed throughout the ground floor. There is an excellent modern family kitchen and the original layout of the house has been radically changed to now provide superb family living and guest bedroom accommodation with a great master bedroom suite and 6 further bedroom suites.

Guide Price of £5,850,000 House 7 bedrooms, 4 reception rooms, 6 bathrooms
